Siderona Beach

About

Siderona is a very small settlement with a beach on the Saronic coast, about 22 kilometres south-east of Corinth and seven from Loutra Oraias Elenis.

What to expect

A pebble shore with clear water and an open view across the Saronic Gulf.

The islet opposite

The small island that shares its name carries local legend: in 1846 it stood at the centre of a vampire story that gripped Corinthia.

Useful information
