CORINTHIA

Archaeological sites in Corinthia with free entry

About

You do not need a ticket to see some of the most interesting monuments in Corinthia. This list includes only sites and museums for which the official page of the Greek Ministry of Culture states free admission: Acrocorinth, the Diolkos at the Isthmus, the ancient harbour of Lechaion, the Hexamilion wall, the archaeological site of Stymphalos and the museum of Ancient Feneos. Note that free entry does not mean they are always open. Acrocorinth has opening hours, Lechaion opens by arrangement with the Ancient Corinth Museum and the Feneos museum is open only from April to October. On each page you will find the opening hours and a link to the official source. Schedules change, so check before you set off.
